Goog afternoon,

BP Australia supports the AER proposed queuing requirements relating to the RBP Access Arrangement as presented in the email below. We feel the most recent addition to this AER proposal relating to deposit payment at the commencement of negotiation provides the pipeline owner with a much clearer and faster recontracting process than previously existed, addressing the original concern of the pipeline owner but balancing this against users needs.

For the avoidance of doubt, BP Australia does not support the APTPPL proposal.

Please contact me if you require further information.

Kind regards,

Brendan Dillon
