<http://jemena.com.au/what-we-do/assets/jemena-gas-network/access-arrangement.aspx>.

Section 107(1) of the NGR requires JGN to ensure that the applicable AA is accessible on its website. There were two periods during the reporting period where the applicable AA was not accessible on the website.

1. The Australian Competition Tribunal (Tribunal) published final orders and amended versions of the AA and Access Arrangement Information (AAI) on 30 June 2011. The amended AA took effect from 1 July 2011.

The website required some revision to describe the merits review process and the Tribunal's decision. At the same time the entire Jemena website was under review. The revised pages, including links to the amended documents, were available when the updated Jemena website was launched on 31 July 2011. Revised network tariffs for the year beginning 1 July 2011, as approved by the AER in June 2011, were available on the Jemena website at all times from 1 July 2011.

2. The AER published further amended versions of JGN's AA and AAI on 26 September 2011 giving effect to its final decision on the treatment of mine subsidence expenditure. The amended documents were available on the Jemena website on 28 September 2011. However, they were available on the AER's website during the short intervening period.

(c) Has the service provider received any requests from the AER to provide to prospective users generally other information specified as reasonably necessary to determine if access should be sought.

JGN response:

There have not been any relevant requests from the AER during the reporting period.

(d) Please provide details of when and how this request was met.

Not applicable.

(iii) Publishing terms and conditions of access to light regulation services

(a) Where there is access to light regulation services on a covered pipeline, has the service provider published tariffs and other terms and conditions for these services on its website?

JGN response:

Not applicable.

(b) Please provide the website address where this information can be accessed and the date that this information was first made available on the website.

JGN response:

3.2 Access determinations

(a) Has the service provider been party to an access determination?

JGN response:

No.

(b) When did the access determination become operative?

JGN response:

Not applicable.

(c) For what period is the access determination in place?

JGN response:

Not applicable.

3.3 Confidentiality

(a) Provide a statement that the confidentiality requirements under rule 137 of the National Gas Rules have or have not been met.

JGN response:

There was one instance during the reporting period where the requirements under rule 137 were not met.

Due to a system weakness and the unusual characteristics of two churn transactions which occurred on 1 February 2012, consumption data for the two customers was available to their previous retailer for one day after the transactions were processed. The problem was corrected as soon as it was identified and new procedures have been implemented to avoid a recurrence.

(b) Has the service provider established an internal protocol or policy guideline or procedure manual for the handling of confidential information?

If so please provide the AER with the relevant policy document

JGN response:

JGN does not maintain any documentation directed specifically at the handling of confidential information in accordance with the NGR.

SPI (Australia) Assets Pty Ltd has implemented a ring-fencing training program for all relevant subsidiaries, including JGN, which emphasises the importance of ensuring that confidential information is handled properly and that any breaches or possible breaches are reported promptly. That training was completed by nearly 540 personnel (employees and contractors) during the reporting period. Ring-fencing requirements, including provisions relating to confidential information, are also described in induction material provided to new employees.

Jemena maintains a compliance management system. The confidential information provisions of the NGL are included in the system which, among other things, delivers compliance questionnaires to responsible managers in the business on a periodic basis. This process serves to maintain awareness of the obligations and reinforces responsible managers' accountabilities for ensuring compliance.

3.4 Bundling

(a) Has the service provider bundled any of its services when providing access or negotiating access with a prospective user?

JGN response:

JGN's AA as approved by the AER requires that a Meter Data Service be taken with each Haulage Reference Service for so long as JGN provides that Meter Data Service as a reference service. That will be the case for so long as the provision of Meter Data Services is not contestable.

(b) If so, provide a description of the bundled services and related conditions of access.

JGN response:

The Haulage Reference Service is described in section 2.2A of JGN's access AA as approved by the AER. Section 2.2A(c) states that:

The Haulage Reference Service is only available where the Haulage Reference Service is taken in conjunction with the Meter Data Service (where the Service Provider provides the Meter Data Service as a Reference Service).

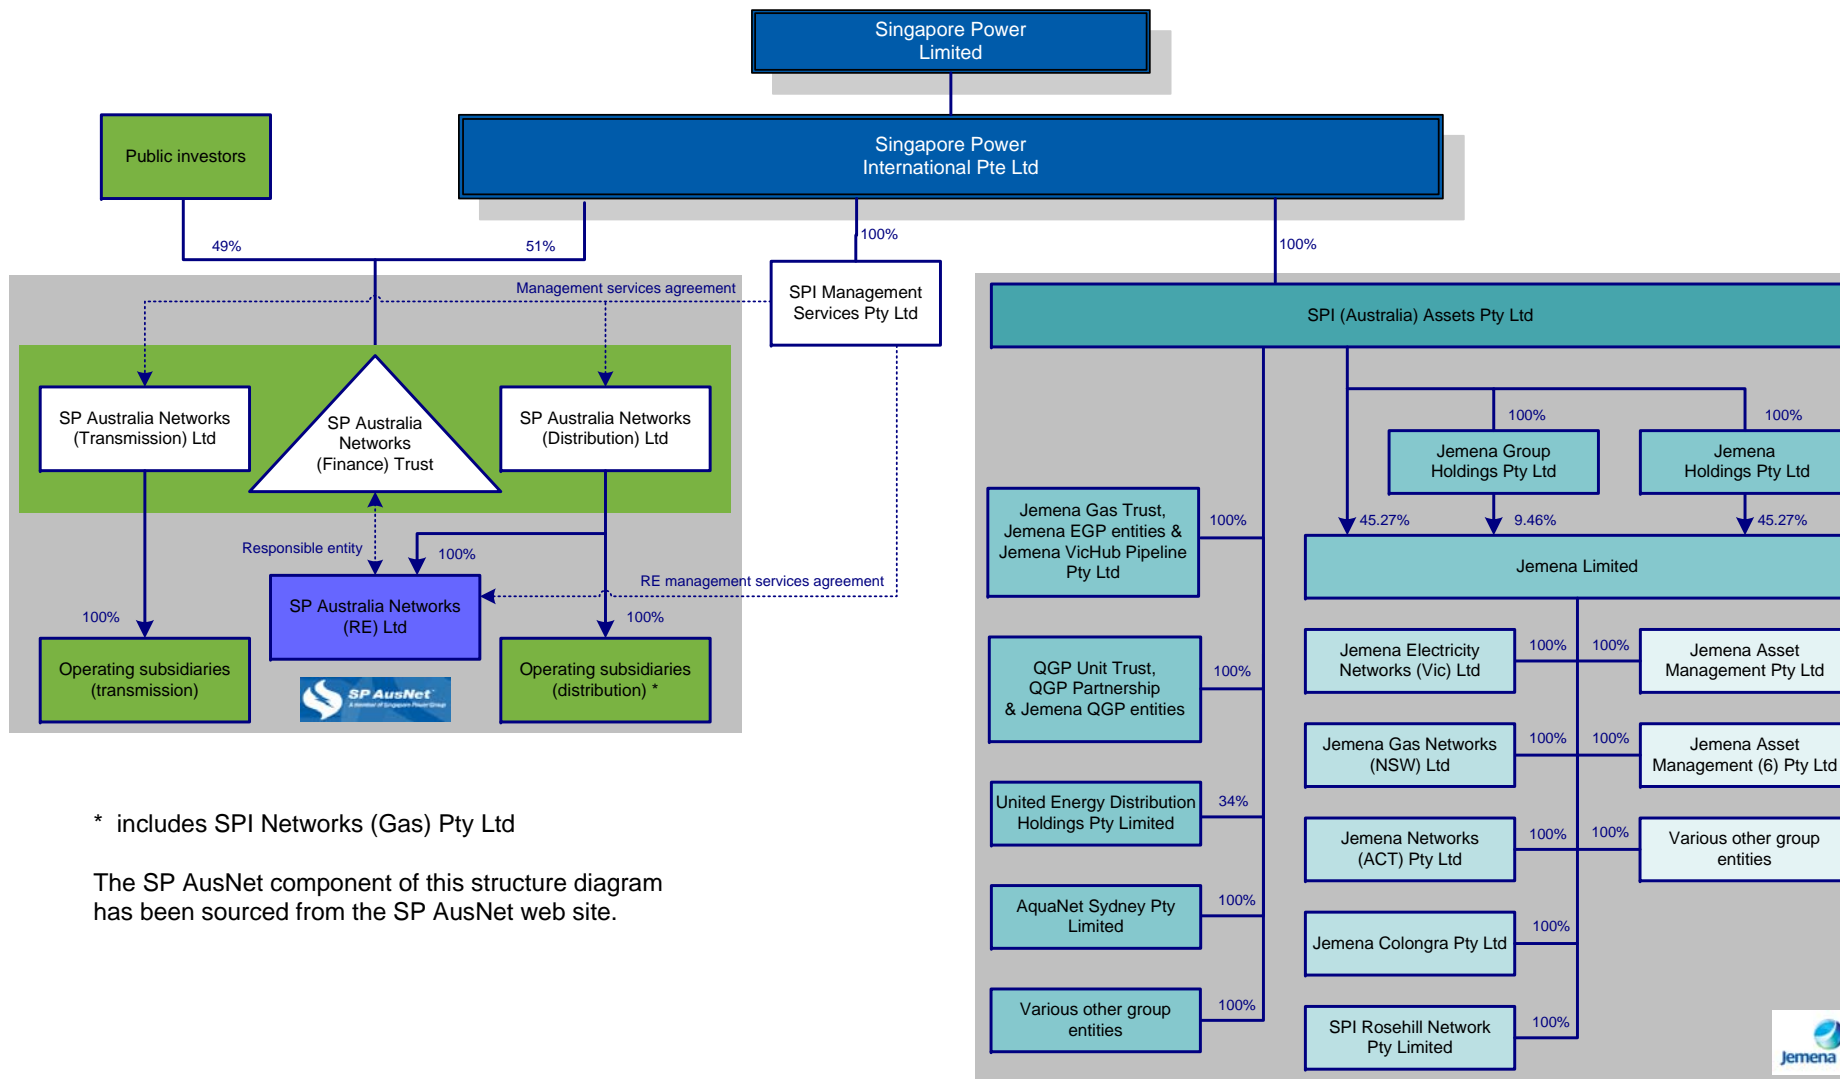

The Meter Data Service is described in section 2.2B of the AA. Bundling is reasonably necessary because meter reading and data processing are required to enable billing for the Haulage Reference Service.

JGN provided the Meter Data Service as a Reference Service throughout the reporting period. Accordingly, users were required to take a Meter Data

Service with each Haulage Reference Service as provided in JGN's AA on conditions that are set out in JGN's Reference Services Agreement.

The directors have determined that the accounting policies adopted are appropriate to meet the needs of the members.

(c) Statement of compliance

This special purpose financial report has been prepared in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001, the recognition and measurement criteria specified by the Australian Accounting Standards ("AASBs") and Interpretations, and the disclosure requirements of AASB 101 Presentation of Financial Statements, AASB 107 Statement of Cash Flows, AASB 108 Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors, AASB 1031 Materiality and AASB 1048 Interpretation and Application of Standards.

The special purpose financial report was authorised for issue by the Board on 20 July 2012.

(d) Basis of measurement

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention.

(e) Functional and presentation currency

The financial statements are presented in Australian dollars, which is also the Company's functional currency.

(f) Accounting policies

Significant accounting policies for the special purpose financial statements are presented in Note 2.

(g) Use of estimates and judgements

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with AASBs requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and reported amounts of assets, liabilities, income and expenses.

The estimates and associated assumptions are based on past experience and various other factors that are believed to be reasonable judgements under the circumstances; the results of which form the basis of making the judgements about carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the year in which the estimates are revised and in any future years affected.

The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the financial statements, are disclosed in note 3.

2 Summary of significant accounting policies

(a) Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable. Amounts disclosed as revenue are net of returns, trade allowances and duties and taxes paid.

Revenue is recognised for the major business activities as follows:

(i) Services revenue

Services revenue includes tariff and contract revenue earned from the distribution of gas.

Services revenue is recognised on delivery which coincides with the stage of completion of the service. Customers are billed for sales on a periodic and regular basis. However, as at each balance sheet date, sales and accrued revenue include an estimation of sales delivered to customers but not yet billed ("unread sales"). This estimation is based on previous consumption patterns and meter reading dates.

From time to time the Company may receive revenue in advance of providing the services. This revenue is treated as unearned and is not recognised in the income statement but deferred to the balance sheet.

(ii) Contribution from customers for capital works

Contribution received from customers to assist in the financing of asset construction are recognised as revenue when the service is performed.

(iii) Other revenue

Other revenue includes revenue generated from third party hits, property enquiries, service orders, connections and property rentals.

(iv) Interest income

Interest income is recognised as it accrues using the effective interest method.2.

(b) Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs incurred for the construction of any qualifying asset are capitalised during the period of time that is required to complete and prepare the asset for its intended use or sale. Other borrowing costs are expensed.

(c) Tax

Income tax on the profit or loss for the year comprises current and deferred tax. Income tax is recognised in the income statement except to the extent that it relates to items recognised directly in other comprehensive income.

Current tax is the expected tax payable on the taxable income for the year, using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date, and any adjustment to tax payable in respect of previous years.

Deferred tax is provided using the balance sheet liability method, providing for temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes. Temporary differences are not provided for the initial recognition of assets and liabilities that affect neither accounting profit nor taxable income. The amount of deferred tax provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted by the reporting date.

A deferred tax asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable income will be available against which the asset can be utilised. Deferred tax assets are not recognised to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority and the Company intends to settle its tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

(i) Tax consolidation

The Company is a wholly owned subsidiary within the SPIAA tax consolidated group ("tax group"). The head entity of the tax group is SPIAA. Entities that are not 100% owned and entities that are not residents for Australian tax purposes are treated as separate single tax entities.

The members of the tax group have entered into a tax funding arrangement that requires the wholly owned Australian tax resident subsidiaries to make contributions to the head entity for current tax assets and liabilities arising from external transactions occurring after the implementation of tax consolidation.

Under the tax funding arrangement, the contributions are calculated on a "group allocation method" so that the contributions are equivalent to the tax balances generated by external transactions entered into by the wholly owned Australian tax resident subsidiaries, adjusted for intra group dividends. The contributions are payable as set out in the arrangement and reflect the timing of the head entity's obligations to make payments for tax liabilities to the relevant tax authorities.

The members of the tax group have also entered into a tax sharing agreement under the tax consolidation legislation. The tax sharing agreement sets out the allocation of income tax liabilities between the entities should the head entity default on its tax payment obligations and the treatment of entities leaving the tax group.

(d) Receivables

Receivables are stated at amortised cost less impairment losses. Collectability of receivables is reviewed on an ongoing basis. The carrying amount of receivables is reduced through the use of an allowance account and the amount of the loss is recognised in the income statement within "other expenses". When a receivable is uncollectable, it is written off against the allowance account for receivables. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited against "other expenses" in the income statement.

(e) Inventories

Inventories consist of gas meters and pipes and are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value.

(f) Property, plant and equipment

Items of property, plant and equipment are stated at historical cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. Historical cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset. The cost of self-constructed assets includes the cost of materials, direct labour, the initial estimate (where relevant) of the costs of dismantling and removing the items and restoring the site on which they are located, and an appropriate proportion of direct production overheads. Where parts of an item of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items of property, plant and equipment.

The Company recognises in the carrying amount of an item of property, plant and equipment, the cost of replacing part of such an item when that cost is incurred if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. All other costs are recognised in the income statement as an expense as incurred.

Depreciation is charged to the income statement on a straight line basis over the estimated useful life of each part of an item of property, plant and equipment. Land is not depreciated. The estimated useful lives in the current and comparative year are as follows:

Category	Useful life (years)
Freehold buildings	40 - 50
Leasehold improvements	6 - 10
Plant and equipment	15 - 120

2 Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

(g) Intangible assets

Software

Computer software includes the cost of software licences purchased and other additional software development costs. Software is recorded at cost and amortised on a straight line basis over its useful life. The estimated useful life for software in the current and prior year is between 3 to 8 years.

(h) Impairment of assets

(i) Financial assets

A financial asset is considered to be impaired if objective evidence indicates that one or more events have had a negative effect on the estimated future cash flows associated with that asset.

When there is a decline in the recoverable amount of the Company's receivables, an impairment loss is recognised in the income statement.

The recoverable amount of the Company's receivables carried at amortised cost is calculated as the present value of estimated future cash flows discounted at the original effective interest rate (i.e. the effective interest rate computed at initial recognition of these financial assets). Receivables with a short duration are not discounted.

An impairment loss in respect of a receivable carried at amortised cost is reversed if the subsequent increase in recoverable amount can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognised.

(ii) Non-financial assets

The carrying amounts of the Company's non-financial assets, other than inventories (refer Note 2(e)) and deferred tax assets (refer Note 2(c)), are reviewed at each balance sheet date to determine whether there is any indication of impairment. If any such indication exists, the asset's recoverable amount is estimated.

An impairment loss is recognised whenever the carrying amount of an asset or its cash generating unit ("CGU") exceeds its recoverable amount. Impairment losses are recognised in the income statement. Impairment losses recognised in respect of CGUs are allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to CGUs (group of units) and then to reduce the carrying amount of the other assets in the unit (group of units) on a pro rata basis.

Impairment losses in respect of other assets are reversed if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. An impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation or amortisation, if no impairment loss had been recognised.

The recoverable amount of non-financial assets is the greater of their fair value less costs to sell and value-in-use. In assessing recoverable amount, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. For an asset that does not generate largely independent cash inflows, the recoverable amount is determined for the CGU to which the asset belongs.

Where a group of assets working together supports the generation of cash inflows, the recoverable amount is assessed in relation to that group of assets which collectively comprise a CGU.

(i) Payables

Payables represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the end of the financial year which are unpaid.

Payables are stated at amortised cost.

(j) Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events, it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation and the amount has been reliably estimated. Provisions are not recognised for future operating losses.

Where there are a number of similar obligations, the likelihood that an outflow will be required in settlement is determined by considering the class of obligations as a whole. A provision is recognised even if the likelihood of an outflow with respect to any one item included in the same class of obligations may be small.

Provisions are measured at the present value of management's best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the reporting date. The discount rate used to determine the present value reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as interest expense.

(k) Leases

Leases in which a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are not transferred to the Company as lessee are classified as operating leases. Payments made under operating leases (net of any incentives received from the lessor) are charged to the income statement on a straight line basis over the period of the lease.

(l) Share capital

Ordinary share capital is recorded at the fair value of consideration received. The costs of issuing securities are charged against the share capital. Ordinary share capital bears no special terms or conditions affecting income or capital entitlements of the shareholders. Dividends are recognised as a liability in the year in which they are declared.

(m) Debt forgiveness and other reserves

Intragroup transactions are treated in accordance with their substance, and are classified as transactions with owners when they are completed on a non-arm's length basis. Any gains or losses arising on consummation of these transactions are taken directly to equity.

(n) Goods and services tax ("GST")

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, unless the GST incurred is not recoverable from the taxation authority. In this case it is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of the expense.

Receivables and payables are stated inclusive of the amount of GST receivable or payable. The net amount of GST recoverable from, or payable to, the taxation authority is included with other receivables or payables in the balance sheet.

(o) Comparative figures

Where applicable, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform to changes in presentation for the current financial year.

(p) New accounting standards and interpretations

A number of new standards, amendments to standards and interpretations are effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 April 2012, and have not been applied in preparing these financial statements. None of these is expected to have a significant effect on the financial statements of the Company, except for AASB 9 Financial Instruments, which becomes mandatory for the Company's 2014 financial statements and could change the classification and measurement of financial assets. The Company does not plan to adopt this standard early and the extent of the impact has not been determined.

3 Critical accounting estimates and judgements

The Company makes estimates and assumptions concerning the future. The resulting accounting estimates will, by definition, seldom equal the related actual results. Accounting estimates and assumptions where changes in those estimates and assumptions could result in a significant change in the recognised amounts of assets and liabilities are detailed below:

(i) Income taxes

The tax expense and deferred tax balances assume certain tax outcomes and values of assets in relation to the application of the tax consolidation regime. These outcomes affect factors such as the quantification and utilisation of tax losses, capital allowance deductions and the taxation treatment of transactions between members of the tax group.

The tax expense assumes that the tax group can carry forward income tax losses. If there is a change in the majority underlying ownership of the tax group as a result of a reduction in Singapore Power Limited's ownership position, this assumption may cease to be applicable.

The tax group has taken positions in relation to the income tax and capital gains tax consequences of the acquisition by SPIAA of the ex-Alinta assets. This involves the exercise of judgements surrounding the calculation of tax bases for the tax group's assets and liabilities. Furthermore, the potential reversal of temporary differences also requires the use of estimates of future profitability, availability of taxable income on both revenue and capital account and potential future changes in tax bases.

Assumptions are also made about the application of income tax legislation. These assumptions are subject to risk and uncertainty and there is a possibility that changes in circumstances will alter expectations which may impact the amount of deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities in the balance sheet. In these circumstances, the carrying amount of deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities may change resulting in an impact on the earnings of the Company or on the fair value of the tax assets acquired.

In addition, deferred tax assets are recognised for deductible temporary differences only if it is probable that future taxable income will be available to utilise those temporary differences.

(ii) Recognition of deferred tax

The Company applies the criteria stated in AASB 112 Income Taxes ("AASB 112") with regards to the calculation and recognition of deferred tax assets. The application of the AASB 112 criteria involves the exercise of judgement surrounding the calculation of accounting and tax bases for the Company's assets and liabilities.

Furthermore, the potential reversal of temporary differences also requires the use of estimates of future profitability, availability of taxable income on both revenue and capital account and potential future changes in accounting and tax bases.

In particular, the expectation of the availability of future taxable income against which deferred tax assets arising in respect of revenue losses is subject to estimation and judgement.

(iii) Accrued revenue

Revenue accrual estimates are made to account for the unbilled period between the Company's last billing date and the end of the accounting period. The accrual relies on detailed analysis of customers' historical consumption patterns, which take into account base usage, sensitivity to prevailing weather conditions and consumption growth. The results of this analysis are applied for the number of days and weather conditions over the unbilled period.

(iv) Useful lives of property, plant and equipment

Depreciation is provided for on property, plant and equipment, including freehold buildings but excluding land. Depreciation is calculated on a straight line basis so as to write off the cost of each asset over its estimated useful life. The estimated useful lives and depreciation methods are reviewed annually. Assumptions are made regarding the useful lives and based on the regulatory environment and technological developments. These assumptions are subject to risk and there is the possibility that changes in circumstances will alter expectations.

These Auditing Standards require that we comply with relevant ethical requirements relating to audit engagements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial report is free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial report. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation of the financial report that gives a true and fair view in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial report.

These procedures have been undertaken to form an opinion whether, in all material respects, the financial report is presented fairly in accordance with the basis of accounting described in Notes 1 and 2 to the financial statements so as to present a true and fair view which is consistent with our understanding of the company's financial position, and of its performance.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.
