

AER publishes proposed 2015 AMI charges applications

Sept 24th 2014

To whom it may concern

This is an absolute disgrace and another greedy grab by the power suppliers because they didn't get their own way when so many subscribers rejected the invasion and intrusion of the smart meter roll out.

In my own situation I rejected the imposition of a radio transmitter radiating harmful RF energy within my household and paid over $2000 to relocate a new meter box and wiring to the furthest part of the house away from sleeping areas.

I reject the notion that I may have to pay extra fees and if charged will take this matter to higher authorities.

The greedy power sellers have caused enough grief in this matter and flown in the face of expert opinion that these meters are harmful. Now they want money to compensate them for their disaster.

No way.
